TAX LISTING TIME.

Both City and County Listers Were at Their Respective Posts Yesterday.

LARGE TAX PAYERS PROTEST.

Do Not Like Provisions of New Revenue Law as at Present Construed and Are Disposed to Kick — About the Railroad Stock.

Perhaps never before was the period of tax listing in New Hanover fraught with so much interest as that began by the city and county yesterday through their respective representatives, Capt. A. L. DeRosset and Mr. T. O. Bunting. The exciting cause is the new revenue act adopted by the last General Assembly and the strict construction by the State authorities of a number of its provisions with reference to stocks, bonds, securities, etc.

Both the city and county books, for convenience sake, are open at the same place—upstairs in the City Hall building—and Captain DeRosset, for the city, is being assisted by Mr. Walker Meares and Mr. Joe Lippitt, while Mr. Bunting, for the county, is being assisted by Capt. Wm. Blanks and Mr. W. A. Williams. About a hundred persons listed yesterday, and the work will go steadily forward until July 1st. The average tax payer now approaches the books with fear and trembling, so to speak, and Captain DeRosset tells the STAR that two of those who listed yesterday placed certain securities on the books under protest.

It was also currently talked on the streets yesterday, but not confirmed by a reporter, that as many as a half dozen or more of the largest tax payers in the county had, just prior to June 1st, changed their residency to other States or townships—three to South Carolina, one to New Jersey and two to Masonboro and Harnett townships.

County Tax Lister Bunting, in this connection, yesterday received a letter from Mr. H. C. Brown, Clerk of the N. C. Corporation Commission, enclosing a circular letter of instructions of the Commission to list takers, from which it is cited that the "shareholders in all corporations not organized or not incorporated under the laws of North Carolina, are required to list their shares with you for taxation." It is then stated in Mr. Brown's letter that the Commission is of the opinion that shareholders in the A. C. L. and other railroads should list their shares for taxation. "Only such shareholders as are taxed through the corporations are exempted from listing their shares," is the way the letter concludes.

BACK FROM THE REUNION.

Capt Metts Speaks Most Enthusiastically of Trip to Memphis—Greetings From Infantry Association.

Capt. James I. Metts returned yesday via the Seaboard Air Line from Memphis, Tenn., where he attended the Confederate Reunion as a delegate from Cape Fear Camp No. 254, U. C. V., and as a representative of the Third North Carolina Infantry Association, the oldest organization of veterans of either side in the late Civil War. Capt. Metts speaks most enthusiastically of his trip to Memphis and relates many incidents of great interest to veterans. The following is a copy of the greetings carried to the reunion by Capt. Metts from the Infantry Association.

HEADQUARTERS
THIRD N. C. INFANTRY ASS'N,
WILMINGTON, N. C., May 16.

Comrade Confederate Veterans, Greeting: This certifies you that our valued secretary and esteemed member, Comrade Capt. James I. Metts, is authorized and delegated, proper time and opportunity offering, to extend in our name and behalf to all worthy Confederate soldiers, sailors and mariners the right hand of good fellowship and the soldier pledge that tho' time will thin our ranks, death only shall chill the brotherly greeting of this, the oldest Confederate Veteran Association, organized February 2d, 1866, since when their annual reunions, held at first armed in secrecy, have never been omitted, and tho' the individuals are members of the U. C. V. camps of their neighborhoods, they preserve this as a distinct organization—cherishing a justifiable pride in being first in a movement whose action has proclaimed to the world and furnished a record for our children of the trials, privations and triumphs of those who bore the battle flag of our glorious Confederacy.

WM. L. DEROSSET, President.

CLOSED SUCCESSFUL YEAR.

Session of School for Young Ladies Conducted by Miss Hart and Miss Brown. Prizes and Certificates.

The final examinations being over in the School for Young Ladies, conducted by Miss Hart and Miss Brown, the session was closed on Friday, when certificates and prizes were awarded to the successful competitors for honors. Certificates are given only to pupils attaining 75 per cent. or more in lessons or conduct; prizes—in lessons, for 99 per cent or for the highest number attained; in conduct, for the record judged by the principals to have been the most deserving; in punctuality, for 100 per cent. or for the highest number attained.

The following pupils were mentioned as having made a good average above 90 per cent: In scholarship, Louise Harlow, Robert McKoy, Herbert Bluethenthal, Adair McKoy, Wilhelmina Harlow, Hugh Calder; in "total average," Hart McKoy, Herbert Bluthenthal, Hal Boatwright, Katharine Vollers, Anna Perry Wilhelmina Harlow.

Certificates of proficiency in scholarship were presented to Sidney McDonald, 98.7; Alice Davis, 96.1; Hal Boatwright, 96; Hart McKoy, 99.8; Katharine Vollers, 98.7; Arra Perry, 97. Certificates of excellent conduct were presented to Alice Davis, Herbert Bluethenthal, Hart McKoy.

Prizes were awarded as follows: For attaining the maximum in punctuality, to Louise Harlow, Alice Davis, Bell Heyer, Hal Boatwright, Sidney McDonald, Hart McKoy, Robert McKoy; for scholarship—on a tie of 98.7 per cent.—to Katharine Vollers and Sidney McDonald, and for attaining 99.8—not in competition—to Hart McKoy; for the best record in needlework, to Katharine Vollers; for the highest total average in punctuality, lessons and conduct, to Sidney McDonald, 97.

Mention was made of the exceptionally good stand taken by Cynthia Rountree and Marion Sprunt, the former having lost honors by unavoidable absence from the city, and the latter having had presumptive claim to prizes for punctuality, scholarship, conduct and "total average"—all of which were lost through sickness only.

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., June 1.—The Shipbuilders broke even with Wilmington this afternoon by landing one of the two games played here to-day. The first game was called at two o'clock at River View Park. The crippled condition of the locals precluded anything else but defeat and the visitors did it in championship style not a local man crossing the plate. Garnett, a local amatuer, pitched the game for the Shipbuilders and though not in the class with his associates held the Giants down to five hits. The attendance was small and the game uninteresting.

Over a thousand people at East End Park saw the visitors throw away the second game to the locals by errors on the part of the Wilmingtonians. It was in the second inning that the Giants went up in the air and before they came down the Shipbuilders had sent three men over the plate and won the game. With two Newport News men on bases, Vorhees fumble a scratch hit, allowing the man on third to score, while the batter reached first. Then he threw it to Crockett and he lost his head, the locals rolling up two more to their credit.

Aside from his error, Vorhees pitched a good game striking out three men and allowing but one base on balls. High for the locals twirled as effectively as he did Thursday and save for the one run scored in the seventh on the left fielder's error, the Giants were not in the game.

Another Account of the Games.

[Special Star Telegram.]

NEWPORT NEWS, VA., June 1.—Wilmington broke even on the day and also on the series with the home club to-day. The first game was won by Allen's clever twirling, the local club being unable to do anything whatever with his delivery. He held them down to four hits, two of which were two baggers, and was backed up in splendid style. Ashenback tried a local amateur and he showed up in good style after his nervousness had worn off. Stafford put one over the fence for a home run with a man on base in the third inning. Newport News won the second game which was a much more spirited contest. Vorhees pitched in clever style, but the team went to pieces in the second inning and allowed three runs to be scored. High had Wilmington's heavy hitters completely at his mercy and with the exception of Crockett who secured three hits, they were easy.

High Balls and Low Balls.

The games here this week bid fair to be the most interesting of the season thus far. With the home team leading by the bare fraction of five points and Newport News next in the percentage column the series will be a hard-fought one. Then, too, Norfolk has wonderfully strengthened in the last ten days, winning easily last week from the Portsmouth team, so that fun may be also expected with them. Norfolk has on its pitching staff at present no less than five good pitchers. However, the "Horse Editor" sticks to his forecast of last week—four games for the home team, and hopes he may be just as badly wrong in the same way, as he was last week.

While two out of the three games in which our "Cy" pitched last week were lost, the defeats cannot be laid at his door, for in each of the three games he pitched magnificent ball, an average of only four and a fraction hits being made off him. In the two games lost he was pitted against "lefty" High, Newport's brag pitcher, and the loss of the games is attributable solely to the inability of our boys to find High. "Cy" is decidedly O. K., working always like a Trojan to help the team to victory.

— Raleigh News and Observer: "A piece of crepe with the words in white "Funeral at 3:39 Monday Afternoon" decorate the base ball bulletin board in front of Cross and Linehan's. Raleigh's sixth defeat in five days was the cause."

This is Interesting, Not True.

Friday's New Orleans Times-Democrat: "'New Orleans will have a pretty good team in about a week,' said an ardent admirer of the national game. 'Home Run' Stafford, Hoffmeister, Gilligan and Freeland should get in to-day or to-morrow, and we may see them play in Saturday's game.

Games On Other Diamonds.

RICHMOND, VA., June 1.—Sutch won his game for the Red Birds here to-day, allowing only seven hits. A lead of four runs in the first did the work.

THE CRIMINAL COURT

Last Term of Eastern District Will be Convened To-morrow Morning.

CAPITAL CASES FOR TRIAL.

Will Likely Require Two Weeks to Clear the Docket of Its Eighty Odd Indictments—A Negro From Castle Haynes for House-Breaking.

Judge E. K. Bryan will to-morrow morning at 10 o'clock convene the last term for New Hanover of the Eastern District Criminal Court, that system having been abolished by the Legislature, last adjourned, and the new Superior Court system having been instituted in its stead.

There are about eighty cases on the docket for trial, the most important of which is that one against Jim Hawkins, colored, for the murder of Jno. Brown, a colored associate in a card game, which resulted in a shooting affray in Brooklyn several days ago the particulars of which were published at the time. Another capital case on the docket is against a negro from Castle Haynes for house-breaking. He was brought down to the city a few days ago and lodged in jail.

Solicitor Duffy arrived in the city yesterday to prosecute the cases on the docket.

It will likely require a full two weeks to make a clean sweep of them. The following jurors are summoned for the first week: H. J. Bierman, T. J. Pratt, P. H. Walsh, E. F. Jones, W. H. M. Koch, James B. Huggins, S. W. Skinner, W. H. Darden, Jr., Frank J. Egan, T. M Emerson, W. S. Walker, E. Rehder, D. C. Love, A. B. George, J. S. Sneeden, T. H. Hawkins, H. K. Holden, Louis Todd, T. S. Jacobs, D. W. Trask, Paul Cease, F. B. LeGwin, J. A. Orrell, J. L. Barnes, J. E. Gordon, W. R. R. Bate, W. M. Morris, Joseph H. Hanby, Sigmon Bear, E. W. Stokley, Henry Tietgen, John S. Brown, Geo. P. Hurlbert, James G. Lewis, Oscar Batton and Jos. W. Yates.

COUNTY BOND ELECTION.

Only 673 Voters Out of Approximate 2,500 Are Registered in the City—The Books Close Friday.

Registration for the bond election to be held June 18th will close next Friday night after having been open for thirty days. A reporter yesterday visited all the registration places in the city and found that out of an approximate registration in the last election of 2,500, only 673 voters have thus far registered for the bond election. It was gathered, however that of the number registered a majority was in favor of the issue in all the wards except the Third, where the majority is slightly on the other side.

Registration at the several precincts is as follows, with the approximate registration last time: First Ward, (1) 93 out of 320; (2) 40 out of 153; (3) 52 out of 135. Second Ward, 122 out of 452. Third Ward, 109 out of 525. Fourth Ward, 104 out of 374. Fifth Ward, (1) 63 out of 360; (2) 90 out of 241. At Delgado Mills the registration is 48 out of 110 and at Federal Point township, 2 out of 11.

The registration place in the Third Ward is on Eighth street, west side, midway the block, instead of near corner of Eighth and Princess as heretofore.

EXCURSION BY RED MEN.

They Will Go On Fourth of July Hunt to Carolina Beach.

Arrangements are already under way for a Glorious Fourth at Carolina Beach. This year the celebration at this popular resort will be under the auspices of Eyota Tribe No. 5, Improved Order of Red Men, of this city, which alone assures success. The sturdy men of the woods are already on the warpath, mapping out an elegant programme, which, taken in connection with the many attractions of the beach and the always delightful trips on the steamer Wilmington, will make the occasion one unsurpassable in enjoyment.

The general committee, Messrs. Wm. Sheehan, M. E. Keathley and James H. Cowan, appointed by Eyota Tribe at its last meeting, have concluded all preliminary arrangements, including the engagement of a fine band, and at the next meeting, Friday night, the various sub-committees will be appointed and put immediately to work.

MEETING OF MAGISTRATES.

Justices of the Peace of County Will Assemble To-morrow at Noon.

Pursuant to call of Chairman McEachern, of the Board of County Commissioners, the magistrates of New Hanover will assemble at the Court House to-morrow at noon to pass upon the tax levy and transact such other business as may properly come before them.

The meeting is called under Section 716 of The Code, Vol. 1. The magistrates do not elect commissioners at this session as that duty is performed only once in two years.

Sea Excursions To-day.

SUN AY MORNING, JUNE 2

CONGRATULATING ITSELF.

The New York Tribune congratulates itself on the recent decision of the Supreme Court, or rather part of the Supreme Court, on those Porto Rico cases, and takes to itself no small measure of the glory, claiming that it was one of the very few papers in this country which from the start had the nerve to declare for and support the imperial plan of dealing with our Spanish acquisitions. It also substantially claims that it did much to educate the people up to that and to win the five judges who declared in favor of it over to that side. Perhaps so. Something did it, and perhaps they came to their conclusions by reading the Tribune's editorials, which are about as logical and convincing as anything these five judges say, with such a solemn air of authority.

One reason why, we suppose, the Tribune took so much interest in this question and was so anxious that the United States hold on to the Philippines, and some authority be found which could support them in holding on, was because Hon. Whitelaw Reid, the chief editor, was one of the gentlemen commissioned by President McKinley to make the Paris treaty and was one of that same commission which made the $20,000,000 dicker with Spain. In the course of his self congratulatory editorial, the writer justifies the dicker thus: "The conclusion of hostilities with Spain left this country to decide the fate of the Philippines. No other course seemed open but to take possession of them unless we would leave them derelict or remand them back to Spain. The Tribune was and is convinced that the United States was bound in self-respect, for the sake of the Filipinos and for the sake of the civilized world, to assume that trust forced upon it by circumstances." This is a defence of the dicker and about the only defence that can be made, but it is not a good one, and if it be a good one, it suggests some inquiries.

There was no "trust forced on us by circumstances," and if there had been we could have discharged that trust without making a dicker for those islands, something which was not thought of when the commission arrived at Paris. The Spaniards had surrendered, their power was broken and not a vestige of it remained in the Philippines. The only power there was the Filipino and the American, but the Spaniards were smart enough to demand money compensation for surrendering a nominal title and got $20,000,000. This wasn't, as this quotation from the Tribune says, "to discharge a trust to the Filipinos or to the civilized world," but to avoid complications and possible war with other powers. Judge Day, president of that commission, gave that away in an interview shortly after his return, and exploded this trumpered up defence by the Tribune.

But assuming it to be the true reason, why should we take so much interest in the Filipinos as to pay $20,000,000 for the land they lived on? Were we under any obligations to them? Had we any understanding with them that made it imperative in us to take so much interest in them? Some say they were our allies, and that we were bound in honor to stand by them and help them out in their fight for independence, and that when we stole a march on them and traded with Spain we didn't do the fair thing nor show the right kind of interest in them. The imperialists who agree with the Tribune deny that they were our allies or that we were under any obligations to them, and for that reason we were not bound to consult with them as to the trade with Spain, or about anything else. If there was no co-operation for a common object and no mutual understanding between our representatives and the representatives of the Filipinos, then there was no reason why we should take any particular interest in them and that part of the Tribune's defence amounts to nothing.

We were under no obligations "for sake of the civilized world" to make that trade and buy the sovereignty such as Spain had to sell. The civilized world had nothing to do with our making that trade, for we could have done all the civilized world needed or expected by acting jointly with the representatives of the Filipinos and accepting the transferred sovereignty in their name, and then assisting them to establish a government of their own, for which we would stand sponsor before the world and over which we would exercise a guardianship sufficient to prevent aggression by other nations or tribal conflicts that might disturb the peace of the islands. All this could have been done with the full consent and co-operation of those people, and that would have discharged our trust to the civilized world. We could have done with them substantially what we have done with the Cubans and wound the business up with a sort of catch job like the Platt amendment, which would have given us all we wanted and virtual control of the whole archipelago, and that without paying any $20,000,000 bonus to Spain, or spending any $200,000,000 in the effort to establish this "trust for the sake of the Filipinos" (who do not seem to have appreciated our benevolent intent), or "for the sake of the civilized world," which doesn't care a continental about it, unless some of them have traders in the islands, who might suffer if any rackets took place.

No one reading the Tribune would ever suppose that we were actuated by anything like selfishness in making that grab, but if there hadn't been a pretty strong conviction that the grab would "pay" we would very soon have found a way to settle the question as far as the civilized world and the Filipinos goes.

DECLINED TO ACCEPT.

The probabilities are that Governor McSweeney anticipated a "hot time in the old town" which he desired to prevent by returning to Senators Tillman and McLaurin the resignations which they had sent him. He gives that as the reason why he returned the resignations, and the probabilities are that in doing so he is in accord with the sentiments of many people in the State who regard a heated campaign, which would be to a great extent personal, a disturbing factor, productive at this time of more harm than good. There had been but one joint meeting so far, but the contest had already reached the "malicious lie" and "base slander" stage, which was pretty warm for a beginning and somewhat indicative of the ardor that might be developed as the principals and their adherents warmed up to their work.

Senator McLaurin, who says he has been anxious to resign for some time, seems to take the Governor's action resignedly and will withdraw his resignation if the Governor requests it, while Senator Tillman, who wasn't at all anxious to resign, is hot under the collar and says that the Governor has nothing to say about it, that his only business in the premises is to forward the resignations to the president of the Senate. However this may be the matter will stand statu quo for some time, the campaign will be postponed until cool weather in the Fall, and then likely each gentleman will run his own campaign.

IS THIS A SUBTERFUGE?

Mr. McKinley's Cabinet has declined to accept the constitution adopted by the Cuban Convention on the ground that it was adopted with certain interpretations put upon the Platt amendment and that it must come with the Platt amendment straight, without any interpretations. These interpretations were based upon the explanations made by Secretary Root to the Cuban commission which visited Washington, while now it is contended that no officer of the Government has any authority to interpret an act of Congress, that this must be done by the Supreme Court of the United States. That's the contention of Senators Platt and Spooner, who are quoted as saying in private that Secretary Root went too far and said more than he had any right to say to these commissioners, who went back to Havana with these assurances and on the strength of them secured votes enough to adopt the constitution with the Platt amendment by a majority of one.

Suppose Secretary Root did say too much to these commissioners, didn't the President and the members of the Cabinet know what he told them? Didn't they have interviews with the President, and were they not permitted to go home after having been dined and wined, with the full belief that they understood what the clauses in this amendment meant? Why, if all this business and explaining didn't mean anything and why, if nobody had any right to explain, was not that discovery made before or when these commissioners were in Washington, and all this disgusting tomfoolery prevented? Didn't Secretary Root and the President of the United States know what they were doing when they were talking to these commissioners and smoothing the way for the adoption of the Platt amendment? Now it seems they didn't know what they were doing, and that the convention must undo that part of its work, do it over again and swallow the amendment just as it came from Congress, without any explanations. This looks like mere quibbling and seeking a a pretence to hold on to Cuba.

Some hustling fellows up North somewhere, who keep the location of their plant a secret, are competing with the U. S. Government in the manufacture of pennies. As the Government makes a profit of $1.05 a pound on all the pennies it turns out, there is something in the business to invite competition.

In prospecting for coal in Washington county, Ala., one of the prospectors struck a vein of asphaltum three and a half feet thick of a good commercial quality. When they start out hunting things down in that country if they don't find one thing they find another.

The Happy Home.

Happiness must be founded on health. Where there is ill-health there will surely be unhappiness. The happiness of many a home has received its downfall at the table, spread with rich and dainty foods. The first symptoms of disease of the stomach are ignored as being disagreeable but not dangerous. Presently dyspepsia or some other form of disease fastens on the stomach.

At any stage Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery will cure diseases of the stomach and other organs of digestion and nutrition. But the cure is quicker if the "Discovery" is used in the earlier stages of disease. If you have any symptoms of diseased stomach use "Golden Medical Discovery" and be cured.

"I feel that I would be doing an injustice to you if I did not send you a statement of my case," writes Mrs. David W. Guice, of Hamburg, Franklin Co., Miss. "I had liver complaint and indigestion. Everything that I ate disagreed with me. I suffered all the time with swimming in my head; heart beat too fast; my feet and hands were cold all the time. Did not sleep well at all. Was able to get about but very little. I commenced to use Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and 'Pleasant Pellets' in May, 1897, and by December I could begin to get about very well. Have been doing my work ever since. Feel better than I have for several years."

Dr. Pierce's Common Sense Medical Adviser, paper covers, is sent free on receipt of 21 one-cent stamps to pay expense of mailing only. Address Dr. R. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y.

BOOK NOTICES.

"The Woman Who Trusted" is the title of a story of literary life in New York by Will N. Harben, published by the Henry Altemus Company, Philadelphia. It is a book of 257 pages, printed in good readable type, on good paper and neatly bound in cloth. Mr. Harben is the author of "Georgia Sketches" and other popular books

We are under obligations to the Henry Altemus Company, Philadelphia, for a copy of Montayne. or the Slavers of Old New York, a historical romance, by Wm. O. Stoddard, the well known author. It is an interesting story from the beginning to the end of the 356th page, clearly printed and nicely bound in cloth.

CURRENT COMMENT.

—— Several thousand Georgia negroes are "honoring" the memory of the federal dead at Andersonville in the usual way to-day by indulging in a howling drunk and killing a few of themselves. To witness the observance of one memorial day at Andersonville would be a great educator for the average northerner. —Atlanta News, Dem.

—— The disagreeable discussion over the Canteen, the abolition of of the Canteen and the deplorable results that have followed it, are all due to the fact that Congressmen ignored their obligations to the people who elected them, and who want all such questions settled by the rules of common sense, and not to satisfy the clamor of an insignificant lot of male fanatics in league with a few hysterical women utterly ignorant of the subject.—Brooklyn Citizen, Dem.

—— Ths self-congratulation of the Imperialists over the United States Supreme Court decisions are in some respects premature. If a military illustration can be properly applied to so grave a judicial matter, the position of the Imperialists and their opponents under these Porto Rico decisions is in the nature of a drawn battle. What is clear is that a mutilated Constitution does follow the flag until Congress shall have determined to the contrary. In the choice of the next Congress the people will have a chance to put their own construction on the Constitution.—Phil. Record, Dem.

TWO TOILERS.

S. E. KISER.

I.

"With weary brain and aching heart
I greet another day;
A hasty bite and I must start
Upon my weary way;
The sun may shine above my head and soft, sweet winds may blow,
But what are fair, blue skies to me?
With tired feet I go
To labor where no sunshine falls,
Shut in by cheerless, dingy walls,
Estranged from all but woe.

"The day is done, but what have I
That it has brought to me?
The sinking sun may gild the sky—
Why should I stay to see?—
I that am doomed to merely rise and toil all day, and then
Lie down to troubled sleep awhile and toil away again?
Day after day the same old round
Until some day the welcome ground
Shall hide my face from men?"

II.

"The sunbeams play across my way,
The wind blows soft and sweet;
The sky is smiling down to day,
And I, with dancing feet,
Speed onward to the duties that still claim my faithful care
And to the pleasures that arise from faithful service there
And in my heart I'll bear along
A little of the west wind's song
For those I love to share.

"My tasks are done—a golden glow
Spreads out across the sky,
And still the sweet wind whispers low,
Still sings the song that I
Have, with a haunting gladness, hummed through all the blissful day,
And all the world seems happy as I
hurry on my way
To smiling lips and loving arms—
My path is through a land of charms
Where pleasing fancies play.

DR. PIERCE'S FAVORITE PRESCRIPTION FOR WEAK WOMEN.

TO THE WOMEN OF THE UNITED STATES.

DR. S. B. HARTMAN.

In view of the great multitude of women suffering from some kind of female disease, and yet unable to find any cure, Dr. Hartman, the renowned gynecologist, has announced his willingness to direct the treatment of as many cases as may make application to him during the summer months without charge.

The treatment will be conducted by correspondence. The doctor will prescribe all medicines, applications, hygienic and dietary regulations necessary to complete a cure. The medicines prescribed can be obtained at all drug stores. This offer will hold good only during the summer months. Any woman can become a regular patient by sending a written statement of her age, condition of life, history and symptoms of her derangements.

All cases of female diseases, including menstrual irregularities, displacements, ulcerations, inflammations, discharges, irritation of the ovaries, tumors and dropsy of the abdomen, should apply at once and become registered as regular patients. All correspondence will be held strictly confidential. No testimonials of cures will be given to the public except by the express wish of the patient.

As is well known, Dr. Hartman is the President of the Hartman Sanitarium, an institution which has a department devoted exclusively to the treatment of female diseases. He is thus brought to see thousands of such cases every year, the most of whom return to their homes to be treated by correspondence. The principal remedy he relies upon in such cases is Peruna, which every woman should have, who has any affection of this kind. Those wishing to become patients should address DR. S. B. HARTMAN, COLUMBUS OHIO.

No one knows better than Dr. Hartman how much the women suffer with diseases peculiar to their sex. No one knows better than he does how many of them suffer with such diseases. Patiently, hopefully, wearily, and often silently, they eke out a miserable existence year after year.

A woman confined to the house several years with a chronic female derangement had finally given up all hope of being cured. She had tried physician after physician, and remedy after remedy, without any permanent improvement. Her treatment had cost her husband, who was a poor man, hundreds of dollars. They had been obliged to deny themselves many comforts of life in order to get money enough to pay the physicians.

Picking up the paper one day she happened to read an item which contained the news that Dr. Hartman would treat such cases free of charge by letter. She immediately wrote the doctor, describing her case, and giving him all her symptoms. She soon received a letter telling her exactly what to do and what medicines and appliances to get. She began the treatment (the principal remedy being Peruna) at once, and in a few weeks was well and strong again and able to do her own work.

Another woman who used Peruna without becoming one of Dr. Hartman's regular patients had the following experience. Miss Ida Green writes from Baldwinville, Ga.: "Peruna is wonderful and good, and a certain cure for female weakness. I have been ill and have been taking doctor's medicine for several years, and found that none did me any good.

"Every day it was a worry. I was always sick. I had come to the conclusion to give up, and not use any more medicine. I was sick indeed for the past two years. Just before I began to take Peruna I was very weak, besides I was bilious and constipated.

"I had pains in my back and side and falling of the womb, with bearing down pains.

"One day while reading my newspaper, I came across an ad., read of the book for women entitled, "Health and Beauty," and sent for it. Then I began to use the medicine. After using several bottles I am now thoroughly cured."

Send for free book, entitled, "Health and Beauty." Address Dr. Hartman, Columbus, Ohio.

— Mount Olive Advertiser: The strawberry business is about at an end for this season. The largest shipment from Mount Olive in one day was nineteen cars. The heaviest shipment last year was twenty-two cars. There has never been more than two consecutive days of good strawberry weather this season, but in spite of hail and rain our growers have shipped almost as many crates as last year. Prices, as a rule, have been satisfactory.

— Tarboro Southerner: The estimate of the submerged lands in cultivation on Tar river in this county is placed at 2,000 to 2,500 acres. Not all tha crops were ruined, but very much of them. Where oats were covered the loss is almost complete. Corn is not quite so bad, but from one-third to one half is killed or so diseased that it will not produce. Cotton is believed to have fared some better. The damage sustained is conjectural, but will mount up into the thousands of dollars without any close calculation.

— Winston Sentinal: Some two years ago W. B. Stancil, superintendent of a convict camp near Charlotte, received notice that Frank Rozzell, a negro who had been sent to his camp to serve a period of three years and who had escaped, was in a certain neighborhood in Gaston county. He went at once to Gaston (without a warrant) went to the house where the negro was. The negro ran when he saw Stancil. Stancil pursued and fired twice, inflicting wounds from which the negro died next day. His trial resulted in a sentence of four years on the road. Stancil appealed to the Supreme court which has just affirmed the sentence. A petition has been forwarded the governor for Stancil's pardon. The case is somewhat similar to the Pink Fulton case.

DR. C. J. MOFFETT—Dear Sir: I cannot too strongly recommend your TEETHINA (Teething Powders) to mothers as one of the best medicines they can obtain for their debilitated and sickly infants. I have used it with very satisfactory results the past summer with my child, and while we have heretofore lost a child or two from teething under other remedies, our present child, that has taken TEETHINA, is a fine, healthy boy. I am, very respectfully,

COTTON MARKETS.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, June 1.—The cotton market opened quiet and firm, with prices two to five points higher on some outside buying, based on bad weather reports and bullish news from the crop centre. What appeared to be Western buying of July and August served to hold those positions relatively firmer than the rest of the list and caused uneasiness in bear circles. Despite assertions made of late that the July "deal" had been abandoned and the parties interested were trying to sell out, the best judges of the market refused to believe such to be the case and continued to cover on all weak spots. There was some reaction after the call under selling for profits by pit traders but the market held generally steady all the fore part of the session. The Chronicle report for the week showed further excessive rains in the eastern and central belt, slow growth and a backward condition generally. The government weather chart noted general rains east of the Mississippi, but no moisture where needed in the Southwest. Receipts at the ports were again large but this feature had been discounted. The holiday in Liverpool tended in a measure to check speculation here. The market closed steady with prices net two to three points higher.

PUT TO SLEEP IN THE DARK.

The weary child, the long play done,
Wags slow to bed at set of sun,
Sees mother leave, fears night begun,
But by remembered kisses made
To feel, though lonely, undismayed,
Glides into dreamland unafraid.

The weary man, life's long day done,
Looks lovingly at his last sun,
Sees all friends fade, fears night begun,
But by remembered mercies made
To feel, though dying, undismayed,
Glides into glory unafraid.

WILD NELL'S CHOICE

Just where the muddy stream swept in a long curve through the cottonwood bottom stood a picturesque log cabin of the kind so often met with in the more isolated parts of the Bad Lands. Its walls, formed of peeled logs laid lengthwise on top of each other, the interstices between chinked up with clay, were weather stained and gray. Underneath the one front window ran a low wooden bench, on which still stood an agateware basin and a rough bar of yellow soap, reminiscences of the morning wash but just completed. A vine of eastern origin and strange to that climate, which had been brought from New York by the Widow Roberts on the occasion of her only visit there, stretched out its tendrils to clasp the window shutters in a clinging embrace. Near by stood the high corral, which just at that moment contained a bunch of the widow's own Texas long horns, which, she declared with pardonable pride, were as fine as any ever reared on Bad Lands grass. The river, stealing silently along until it lost itself in the rugged hills of the distance, completed the picture.

The widow's cabin was a Mecca for most of the cowboys who lived on the ranches round about. It was not the widow who proved the attraction, though truth to tell she was a comely woman and managed her little domain as well as any one could have done. Rather was it Nell, the pretty daughter, with her two bright eyes, which did such damage, and her reckless, harum scarum ways. Wild Nell was her name to all who knew her. She could ride a horse as well as any man and some that many men couldn't. She knew how to handle a rifle, too, and had astonished Ellis, the old trapper, on one occasion by sending a bullet through a buck white tail at a trifle over 300 yards, as true a shot as any the old man had ever made.

Nell, seated astride her favorite mustang, Prince, and galloping madly along the trail, her black hair flowing wildly in the wind, was a daily sight to the townsfolk of Readville, the more sober among whom shook their heads in horror at her actions. Not so, however, with the cow punchers, who looked at her enviously as she sped along, her pony kicking up clouds of dust. She had more than once shamed some of them by her exhibition of broncho busting and Buck Loley had not dared to show himself for a week after she took the job of breaking Brady's white nosed mare out of his hands. Buck had roped it, saddled it and been thrown 20 feet almost as soon as his feet were in the stirrups. Some of his ribs were broken, and he was generally bruised up. Nell had mounted it afterward undaunted, and when she got through Brady's white nosed mare was as docile as any lamb. All its plunging and catapult jumps had failed to shake her. The end of it was that Buck was guyed by every stockman from Readville to Bingham until he wished that such a thing as a white nosed mare did not exist. And, to make it harder, Buck was one of Nell's most ardent admirers.

It was all right till that "dude" from Pittsburg came along. Nell had never seemed to take the advances of the boys seriously and had made poor Buck miserable by soundly boxing his ears once when he mustered up sufficient courage to tell her how much he really thought of her. Nevertheless it was conceded by the Readvillcites that Buck was one of two who stood the best chance. But the arrival of the dude changed all. He had money, and he knew how to dress to advantage. Blue flannel shirts and greasy leather chaparejos did not compare favorably with "back east" clothing—at least so thought Buck for one.

"I ain't no good alongside that tenderfoot," he had declared to Nell dejectedly. She laughed aloud. You never can tell what a girl means by laughing in a case like that. But big, good natured Buck put the worst possible construction on it and silently moped.

The dude plainly liked Nell. His visits to the cabin were frequent, and his horse was often to be found tethered by the door. He thought he could ride. He had ridden fast horses on his uncle's Pennsylvania farm, and he was disposed to regard the western article rather contemptuously. But there is a vast difference between an eastern thoroughbred and a demure looking "bronc," with the devil in him, only waiting to be coaxed out by the touch of a man, the kind to which the saddle or the feel of a spur is an unknown quantity and with the wild, free blood of the plains coursing through every vein. Yet the tenderfoot didn't see the difference. But Nell had a discerning eye and could read men. She saw through him as if he had been transparent.

Many visits to the house by the stream bred a friendship with Nell which soon ripened into love, on the part of one at least, and that "Pennsylvania coyote," as Buck unfeelingly called him, understood how to use every advantage gained. He could talk of books and travels in strange countries, whereas all Buck knew was cattle, the condition of the market and things incidental to a ranchman's life. He often thought of this and looked ruefully at his great, brown hands, which to him compared badly with the delicate white fingers of the easterner, with their diamond rings.

Nell was standing by the corral looking out over the levels at the great blue outlines of Sentinel butte the day Harris declared how much he cared for her. She said nothing, but drummed impatiently with her pretty foot in the buffalo grass below her.

"And," continued he pleadingly, "you shall have a real home, carriages and all that money can buy. You are much too fine a flower to grow up amid such rough surroundings." The girl blushed indignantly, but still preserved her silence, a faraway look in the dark eyes.

"You know," he kept on, "what I think of you. There is nothing I will not do to"—

The girl cut him short.

"Will you do anything for me? I wonder if you can bear a trial," she added musingly. Then she changed the subject and suggested a ride along the old Fort Keogh trail.

A horse was soon saddled for Nell, and, with Harris on his bay, the two set out. The animal the girl bestrode was a new one on the ranch and as black as coal. It had wild blood in its veins and had only recently been broken. On this occasion it was quiet enough to all appearances for the first three miles of the journey. During that time the girl thought over what her companion had said to her. In spite of the evident shallowness of the man, she had begun to like him some. And then the picture he painted of wealth and comfort for her in the east if she but said him yes was pleasing, she had to admit. Born and reared in the wilds, her only idea of the city and its life she had gained from books and the talk of others. Like most girls of strong will, she was ambitious, and money, she knew, was powerful. Handsome and proud spirited, she would soon fit into the place which he promised to make for her in his boasted society. On the other hand, there was Buck with his poor, lean herd of cattle and his tumble down ranch house. What was there about him to find favor in her eyes? So she told Harris that she would give him an answer later on.

The black horse began to exhibit signs of coming trouble when the top of Cactus butte was reached. Nell reined him with a firm hand, the excitement bringing a renewed touch of color to her cheeks and heightening her beauty, to the undisguised admiration of Harris. But the black fiend she rode was not to be curbed so easily, and it soon gave free play to its temper, kicking and pitching forward and sideways in its efforts to get rid of the unwelcome load. Nell only laughed and sat erect in her seat. She had encountered harder propositions than that. But it speedily became apparent that this was no ordinary bucker. Nell lost her gayety and became serious as the hard, pitching jolts made with all four feet bunched together increased in intensity. Harris watched it all with a pale face, and had the girl found time to look at him she would have seen how little help was to be expected from that quarter in case matters came to the worst. And they did. That devilish conglomeration of horseflesh gathered itself together for a supreme effort and jumped straight into the air, with head dropped and its back arched like a bow under the creaking saddle. The strain was too much. With a crack the bridle snapped and fell to the ground. Nell had nothing to hold Dick with now, and the animal knew it. In a second it was away along the trail like a flash, and the girl, in desperation, wound her fingers in the dark mane and hung on to that, her only refuge. It was a runaway in earnest. The wind roared past her, and her hair stood straight out behind as the two disappeared in a cloud of dust. What the outcome of it would be she didn't dare imagine. The horse would run until it was tired if no obstacle stopped it or at least until its rider was thrown, and hurled from the saddle at that pace meant serious injury or, more likely, death. She shuddered as a glance beneath her showed how rapidly the earth was retreating and set her teeth hard.

What was Harris doing all this time? Trying to overtake the runaway and rescue his girl? He was of different stuff. When he realised what had occurred, he turned the other way and set off toward the village, thoroughly scared.

But there was one other who saw her as she sped wildly down toward the river. Buck Kilgore had gone out that day to try and discover some trace of a calf that had strayed way among the wilderness of cactus and sage. He had just emerged from the mouth of a gully when a figure in white flashed past, and he saw in an instant what was the matter. Digging spurs into his horse so energetically that the little beast's sides were cruelly rent and startling it into a mad pace, he set off in pursuit. The black horse of Nell's was fast, but Buck's Mag was faster, and, moreover, it was an almost frantic lover who rode her with the knowledge that life and death were in the scale. Down near the pebbly beach of the river he drew up alongside the crazy black, and, leaning far over, he clasped the girl with one free arm. In another moment he held her almost unconscious form on Mag's saddle and with the practiced hand of the plainsman guided the pony so that it drew up on the river's edge. The girl was saved, but just in time. In another moment she would have been in the river, which was unusually deep there, and would have drowned.

Harris had the temerity to call for Nell's answer within a week. She gave it with the frankness which was part of her nature.

"I guess," she said with a smile, "I don't need you. Buck is good enough for me."—New York Evening Sun.

Laughed to Success.

One session of the British parliament furnished an amusing illustration of the occasional power of satire to bring about results which sober argument has failed to accomplish.

A bill designed to prevent cruelty to wild animals in captivity had been presented and was opposed by a number of members on the ground that, if passed, it would endanger certain kinds of legitimate sport.

The Earl of Kimberley arose and gravely admitted the force of this argument.

"Undoubtedly," he said, "the bill would put an end to fishing with worms as bait. It is a bill," he continued, "to prevent cruelty to wild animals in captivity. The schedule says the word 'animal' shall be held to include reptile. A worm may be held to be a reptile. A worm impaled on a hook must certainly be held to be in captivity. Therefore the angler who uses a live worm for bait would be guilty of cruelty to an animal in captivity."

The laugh which this argument raised at the expense of the solicitous sportsmen robbed the opposition of whatever force it had and carried the bill to a successful issue.

A Life and Death Fight.

Mr. W. A. Hines of Manchester, Ia., writing of his almost miraculous escape from death, says: "Exposure after measles induced serious lung trouble, which ended in Consumption. I had frequent hemorrhages and coughed night and day. All my doctors said I must soon die. Then I began to use Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, which completely cured me. I would not be without it even if it cost $5.00 a bottle. Hundreds have used it on my recommendation and all say it never fails to cure Throat, Chest and Lung troubles. Regular size 50 cents and $1.00. Trial bottles 10 cents at R. R. BELLAMY'S Drug Store.

THE LATEST AS TO NERVES AND STRENGTH

It is not muscle so much as the nerves back of muscle which show one's strength and power of endurance. And the study with able physicians of to-day is how to keep the nerves in perfect health and fitted for the strain of everyday living. Headache of every type, nerve weakness, dyspepsia, sleeplessness, langnor, restlessness, nervous dyspepsia, muscular weakness, brain weariness, poor circulation,—a thousand different unpleasant feelings and symptoms are due to nerve waste and nerve weakness,—especially in women and children. But how can all this be prevented, one will ask? How can my broken-down constitution be repaired, and nerve strength and full, robust health be secured. Just two points to remember: Determine that you will grow strong in nerves and health, and decide to use at once that most famous nerve cure, COCELIN. It is delicious in taste, quick in action and makes the wearied nerves tingle with renewed strength and every function the stronger and faculty the brighter by its use. Druggists sell it.

THE CUBAN SITUATION.

United States Will Remain in Control Until the Platt Amendment Has Been Adopted.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

WASHINGTON, June 1.—It is officially stated that the United States will remain in control in Cuba until the Platt amendment has been "substantially adopted." This was made known to General Wood last Tuesday by Secretary Root and his action has been approved by the President. Secretary Root was with the President for about an hour and a half to-day, discussing with him the cablegram which had been prepared to be sent to General Wood, at Havana, relating to the action of this government on the Cuban constitution. The message is long and will be forwarded to General Wood with the idea of having him communicate it to the constitutional convention. It will not be made public at this time and probably not until the convention takes action. Secretary Root has received no official copy of the Cuban constitution as adopted, the copy received being furnished by General Wood and consequently the action taken now is considered of the same unofficial character, but indicates the determination of this government to reject the constitution in its present form.

A KANSAS TRAGEDY.

Mutilated Body of a Woman Found in a Shallow Trench Near Her Home. Her Husband Missing.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

HOLTON, KAS., June 1.—In a shallow trench, less than one hundred yards from her home, one mile north of Holton, the mutilated body of Mrs. W. H. Klensmire, was found to-day.

On Saturday, May 19th, the children of the family were absent. When they returned they say their father informed them the mother had gone to Texas on a visit. Later Klensmire left, ostensibly for Texas. Yesterday the children received a telegram saying that their mother had died from yellow fever, and had been buried in Texas. The discovery of her body has created intense excitement.

TOPEKA, KAS., June 1. — Paul Swetlie, brother of Mrs. Klensmire, was murdered in 1892 and the manner of his death was never explained. He carried $80,000 life insurance. The beneficiaries were Mr. and Mrs. Klensmire. Part of the insurance was contested and a verdict for $38,000 was secured in favor of the estate in the United States Circuit Court. The case was appealed and was argued at St. Paul yesterday. The whereabouts of the corpse of Mrs. Klensmire was made known by dogs.

SOUTHERN RAILWAY STRIKE.

An Ultimatum Issued to the Machinists of the System.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

WASHINGTON, June 1.—The first general order issued to the striking machinists on the Southern Railway was promulgated to day by Vice President and General Manager Gannon. It is an ultimatum and announces that if the strikers fail to report for duty at their respective shops at the regular hour on Monday morning next, it will be considered that they have quit and they will be paid off at once and their places filled.

Mr. Gannon to day estimated that the number of men out on the whole system aggregates between five hundred and six hundred. He says that the rolling stock of the road is in excellent condition and that the shops could remain closed for thirty days without the least inconvenience.

CALIFORNIA LYNCHING.

Coroner's Investigation of the Hanging of Five Men at Lookout.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

BIEBER, CAL., June 1.—The coroner's jury to day concluded its investigation of the lynching of the five men at Lookout yesterday morning and rendered a verdict that the men were hanged by unknown persons.

The testimony at the inquest given by the guards of the prisonere was to the effect that that the mob came upon them so silently that they heard nothing until the door of the office opened. Guns were immediately pointed at the officers, the prisoners secured, taken to the bridge and hanged. The mob then dispersed as silently and as quickly as it had come. The men all had burlap sacks over their heads. In twenty-five minutes from the time they entered the hotel they had secured the prisoners and left with them. In four minutes more the men were hanging under the two bridges.

TILLMAN WILL NOT WITHDRAW.

Charges That Gov. McSweeney Transcended Authority in Returning Resolutions.

REASONS FOR HIS ACTION.

Governor Sharply Criticised—Influenced by Would-be Aspirants Not Ready to Enter the Contest—Claims He Represents the People.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

COLUMBIA, S. C., June 1.—Senator Tillman has declined to withdraw his resignation, and charges that Governor McSweeney transcended his authority in sending the resignations back to the Senators. Senator Tillman has written an open letter, which has not reached the Governor yet, in which he says, in part:

"Your Excellency of course has the right, and it is entirely proper, to return my resignation and advise more serious consideration. In declining to accept, I am sure you have transcended your authority. It will take very little investigation and reflection to convince you of this. You cannot compel a member of the United States Senate to hold his commission and exercise the functions of that office if he chooses to surrender it. My action in tendering my resignation, while hasty, was not ill advised, and I am firmly convinced of the wisdom of my course upon reflection.

"Personally, I had nothing to gain and everything to lose and I do not feel the need of further instructions or vindication, because I had just been re-elected by the people with practical unanimity. I offered to resign in order to bring about the resignation of my colleague and thus put us on a level, with equal rights, to go before the people and ask an endorsement of our respective courses. It is somewhat remarkable that you should ask the Senators who have resigned to take time to consider, when you yourself are reported to be ready to appoint two Senators in 'two minutes and a half' after receiving an immediate resignation.

"Your conception of the office of Senator and its powers can be best understood by the ease with which you think you could fill it. It was not my fault that an immediate resignation was not sent you. You declare that the 'people are entitled to one year of peace and freedom' from political battles and bitterness. I am ready to acknowledge that this is very desirable, but our race has ever thought war preferable to dishonor, and unless I am very much deceived a large majority of the people of South Carolina would be glad of an opportunity to have those principles and policies which they support loyally represented in the Congress of the United States.

"I am aware that there is some strong opposition in certain quarters to a campaign in this 'off year' to fill two vacancies in the Senate. Many unthinking citizens do not know its importance. Many would be aspirants are not just ready for various reasons to enter the contest brought on so unexpectedly; it is not convenient or suitable, and, therefore, they have, no doubt importuned your Excellency to await their convenience, claiming that it is for the public welfare.

"On the other hand, it might be remarked that the session of Congress beginning next December marks an era in the history of our republic, and the patriots who will then inaugurate a struggle for the restoration of the old landmarks and the preservation of our free institutions, will need every voice and every vote that can be had. The fact that the Republicans have a good majority in the Senate does not alter the case in the least. The recent decision of the Supreme Court promulgating the damnable doctrine that this republic, whose bed-rock principle is the 'consent of the governed,' can acquire by conquest or purchase territories and peoples to be controlled and taxed without representation, through 'Congressional absolutism,' must be met and exposed, and plans must be laid for a battle to the death by the lovers of Democracy and liberty against this heresy.

"I claim to represent the people and to voice their wishes. The result of the Gaffney meeting had brought Senator McLaurin within reach of his constituents and it was to obtain this answer at once that prompted my conduct at Gaffney. Your Excellency's action gives him a loop-hole and the censure or blame must rest where it belongs.

"There is nothing personal in my attitude towards Senator McLaurin. Nothing but a sense of duty forces me to the course I have pursued. Material prosperity and progress may be worth more than strict adherence to principle, and loyalty to trust, but I cannot see it in that light.

"Holding this view, I decline for the present to withdraw my resignation. It was tendered in order to secure the resignation of Senator McLaurin and will not be withdrawn until he shall have shown his unwillingness to let our people pass upon his conduct this year instead of next. He declares in his latest interview that he 'will speak on such invitations as he did at Gaffney when possible, and will not consent to any interference by Senator Tillman or anybody else.' Whether or not Mr. McLaurin will be allowed to do this remains to be seen. If the people have a right to hear him, the same people have a right to hear me and others. He no longer seems to have anxiety about his health, and if allowed to speak by himself rather enjoys the prospect."

BOTH WERE KILLED.

Young Man and Child Fall Down an Elevator Shaft in Jersey City.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, June 1.—A young man and a 15-months old child were killed to-day by falling down the shaft of a freight elevator of an apartment house in Jersey City. The man was William Gallagher, a mechanic, 28 years of age, and the child was William O'Keefe, whose parents live on the fourth floor of the house where the accident happened. Gallagher lived on the same floor. The child was playing about the hall this forenoon when Gallagher came out of the room. He had always made a pet of the baby and when he saw him on the floor he picked him up and began dancing him up and down in his arms. He was then close to the elevator, the door of which he did not notice was open. Gallagher stepped backwards and plunged down the elevator shaft with the child in his arms. Both were killed instantly.

Dr. Rixey was at the White House at 10 o'clock last night and remained for a short time with Mrs. McKinley. He said after leaving the sick room that the patient was if anything somewhat improved and that she had had a comparatively restful day.

FIFTEEN FISHERMEN MISSING

Supposed to Have Been Drowned in a Wild Squall Off the Coast of Charleston, S. C.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

CHARLESTON, S. C., June 1.—The negro fishermen of Charleston, every clear day, except Sundays, sail beyond the bar, many of them out of sight of land, to catch fish for this and neighboring markets. Their boats are small cat-rigged craft, which impress the stranger as unsafe for a trip in the inner harbor.

Fifteen fishermen are supposed to have been drowned in a wild squall which blew up yesterday afternoon while the mosquito fleet of fishing boats were anchored off the "Eastern Patches." There were eight boats fishing at the time. The storm scattered them to the four winds and all save three were accounted for to night. The missing boats were the Anna Julia, the Messenger Boy and the Knife. There were fifteen men on the three boats. When the supposed disaster was reported the revenue cutter Forward went to sea and skirted for thirty miles around the lightship, but came back with the report that not a sign of life or a disabled boat could be seen.

All hope for the safety of the fishermen was abandoned at dark to day when the cutter got into port with the bad news. It was thought during the day that the boats had drifted to places of shelter, but the failure of the government vessel to find a trace of their whereabouts convinced the crowd of watchers on the wharves that the men were dead.

Capt Joe Watkins, of the Messenger Boy, was the only white skipper supposed to have perished.

Relatives of many of the fishermen wait to night for news from the sea. They cannot believe that so many victims would be called in one storm, and in spite of the little hope held out they wait and believe that the lost will be found. Experienced skippers, however, say that there is not one chance in a hundred that the fifteen were saved.

CLAIMED HE WAS ROBBED.

Story Told in Seattle by George Mulligan, of Liberal, Kansas, En Route to Yukon.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star

SEATTLE, WASH., June 1.—George Mulligan, of Liberal, Kas., who says he is president of the Eagle City Mining and Exploration Company, claims that while in this city awaiting the sailing of a vessel for the Yukon he was robbed of $17,000. He says he was drawn into a dark alley by two men as he was passing down a brightly lighted street, sand bagged and robbed of the money by the ripping open of his shirt, underneath which the money was concealed. He reported his loss to the police. Chief of Police Meredith found $13,500 of the alleged stolen money in the lining of Mulligan's overcoat. Mulligan claims he was playing a joke on his men. Mulligan is not under arrest, but is not allowed to leave the police station. The police do not believe his story.

LIBERAL, KAS., June 1.—George Mulligan left here last Saturday with a company of thirty four young men, bound for the Klondike gold fields. He was president of the Eagle City Placer Mining Company, made up of Liberal men, and the money alleged to be lost was principally that paid by the men in the company. Each man, before leaving here, paid Mulligan $600, for which he was to furnish all expenses to Eagle City and provisions for one year.

ELECTIONS IN CUBAN TOWNS.

A General Victory for the Nationalists Bitterness Against Americans—The Constitutional Convention.

By Cable to the Morning Star.

HAVANA, June 1.—The press deplores the misunderstanding with the Washington government but generally admits the possibility of a wrong construction being put upon the amendment by the explanations and interpretations, and that it will be best for the convention to take the question up immediately and accept the amendment as passed by Congress.

SANTIAGO DE CUBA, June 1.—The reports from outside municipalities show a general victory for the Nationalists, but in the city both parties claim to have won. The Republicans showed unexpected strength, though probably not enough to elect their candidates. The Nationalists make charges of illegal voting.

The streets were filled with frenzied partisans, cheering their favorite candidates. Over one hundred arrests were made during the day, but there was no serious disorder, though one small riot occurred in front of the jail. The rioters, however, were quickly dispersed by a charge of twenty of the rural police.

Considerable bitterness is expressed against the American supervision of the municipal elections.

THREE MILLIONS CAPITAL.

Company Organized to Build Another Shipbuilding Plant On the Delaware.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

PHILADELPHIA, June 1.—The Times, this morning, says:

A company with a capital of at least $3,000,000, is being organized to build another ship-building plant on the Delaware river. The promoters of the scheme claim that $2,600,000 has already been subscribed, and they have optioned a plot of ground at Chester, Pa., where it is proposed to erect the plant.

One of the leading factors in the new concern is State Senator W. C. Sprout, of Delaware county, a son-in-law of the late John Roach, who represents the largest investors. Interested deeply in the company, and in fact one of the principal capitalists, is a man who is one of the officials of the Bath Iron Works at Bath, Me., but whose name is withheld at this time.

SAN FRANCISCO SOLDIERS' RIOT.

Wrecked One of the Drinking Places Just Outside of the Presidio Reservation.

THE ORIGIN OF THE TROUBLE.

One of the Soldiers Drugged in a Saloon. Place Attacked, Wrecked and Burned. A Bar-Tender Beaten—Troops Suppress the Riot.

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 1.—Soldiers to the number of five or six hundred indulged in a riot last night and wrecked one of the many drinking places just outside the Presidio reservation.

There are many conflicting stories as to the origin of the trouble. The soldiers of the Forty sixth volunteer infantry were mustered out of service yesterday and the men given their discharges and pay. Most of the men had several hundred dollars coming to them and they did considerable drinking in the Presidio resorts.

A man by the name of Morgan, of the Forty-sixth, was found unconscious in the front of Mrs. Powers' saloon. Two of Morgan's companions took him to camp for treatment. The doctor pronounced it a case where drugs had been administered. The news spread rapidly about the camp and soon there were a dozen or more men running to Mrs. Powers' saloon. They demanded reparation for the drugging of their comrade, but any knowledge of the affair was denied. Two or three men lounging about the place sided in with the woman and ordered the soldiers from the premises. They went back for reinforcements and spread the report that two of their comrades had been killed in this saloon. A mob made up of members of the Forty-sixth and Forty eighth regiments then rushed pell mell through the Presidio gates to the saloon, which was entirely wrecked. The place caught fire from the overturned lamps. One of the bar tenders was severely beaten and cut. There was threats to lynch him, when a squadron, of cavalry and provost guard of sixty men from the Forty-fifth arrived and rescued him.

The efforts of the cavalry and guard to disperse the crowd were futile until the fire department turned the hose upon them. This and the entire guard of the post helped to restore order.

A careful investigation of the report that some of the soldiers had died from drugged liquor proved that such was not the case. Morgan, of the Forty sixth regiment, was the only man whom it is thought might have been the victim of a drug.

An investigation of the riot will be made by the police and military officials.

ROCKEFELLER'S BENEFACTION.

Plans for Scientific Research Into Problems of Medicine and Hygiene

By Telegraph to the Morning Star.

NEW YORK, June 1.—Having conferred with many of the most eminent pathologists in this country as to the best means of setting on foot an original scientific research into the problems of medicine and hygiene, John Rockefeller has added to his already large list of benefactions.

Mr. Rockefeller has placed at the disposal of a body of prominot medical men $200,000, to be available for immediate expenditure by an association incorporated under the name of "The Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research." The home of this institute, with such laboratories, staff and equipments as may be found necessary, will be located in this city.

The body of King Farmer, a young white man, was found yesterday on the railroad at Anniston, Ala. It was badly mangled. Four pistol balls and a number of slugs were found in the body.

William Hall, director of the machinists strike on the Southern Railway, characterizes Vice President Gannon's order that the machinists return to work Monday or be considered discharged, as a "bluff."

The Bureau of Navigation, Washington, reports 1,024 steam and sail vessels, of 359,789 gross tons, built in the United States and officially registered during the eleven months preceding June 1st.

UP TO DATE.

Guion & Davis have a well equipped Barber Shop. They have no "accomplished tonsorial artists;" but they have four first-class barbers who, with razors keen as a Damascus blade, never fail to please the most fastidious. Our bootblacks can give you a "shine" that almost equals that of The Morning Star. "Brush the gentleman from head to foot."
